Report from the President

2013 was a good year for the Society. It was a pleasure to work alongside our great staff. My thanks and appreciation to Sharon Tandarich, property manager; Samuel Radziviluk, development manager; Jennifer Green, & Juliette Honsinger, program manager; Kathleen Bratton, collections manager; and Kathleen Franciscus, administrative assistant. And, welcome to LeAnne Zolovich, filling a new position as our sales & marketing associate.

We have two great challenges in 2014. There is a global imbalance in students entering the fields of math, engineering and science. Engaging students imagination and helping them visualize the possibilities of an education and career in the sciences can reverse that trend. Towards that end, it is our vision to house the National Iron & Steel Heritage Museum and the World Trade Center Trees in the 120 Mill building complex adjacent to Brandywine Mansion and Terracina. We are in the process of acquiring the complex from ArcelorMittal.

Our goal in the National Historic District has been to restore Brandywine Mansion to its 1830 appearance. A time when Rebecca Lukens occupied the home and was actively managing the steel mill. Now that the construction report has been completed, we will need to turn blueprints into reality. That will require capital. We plan to meet this challenge with opportunities in endowments, donations and fundraising events such as A Brandywine Mansion Evening, and a Member Opening Gala. It is very exciting to be turning this corner!

If the Lukens Historic District & Iron Steel Museum could reach its potential as a tourist destination, it would without a doubt encourage economic development in Coatesville. I look forward to working with you to make this happen.

*Scott G. Huston,
President*

Report from the Executive Director

We are delighted that the Graystone Society and its National Iron & Steel Heritage Museum achieved some impressive results in 2013 through our marketing outreach initiatives. A record number of visitors came to the historic district, our website continues to reach a growing audience, and our educational and event video recordings are available on YouTube, 3CTVLive.com and steelmuseum.org.

We have also generated awareness through direct mail and e-mail campaigns, as well as expanding our presence on Facebook and Twitter. Through these information channels, we share our vision, as a vibrant place to encounter, explore and learn about the past and how we can apply it to the present and future.

The Lukens National Historic District

Our history is painted with many brushes — the evolution of steelmaking and products that kept pace with a growing nation; and the spirit of the men and women of steel marked in the homes, art and artifacts we hold in safekeeping.

1. Start your tour at the Lukens Executive Office (circa 1902-03) by taking an annual report worthy photo on the impressive staircase. Enjoy the steelmaking dioramas, Grutzka art collection and gift shop.
2. The Grutzka Collection may be the most comprehensive essay of America's great industrial age. Today, more than 90% of the structures he painted no longer exist.
3. A.F. Huston's Graystone Mansion (circa 1889) embodied the gravitas of a steelmaking dynasty. By appointment and available for special events.
4. The success of Rebecca Lukens' mill is evident in Terracina (circa 1849), the home of her daughter, Isabella. Furnished and open to the public as a 1880 house museum.
5. Our current restoration project Brandywine Mansion (circa 1739) was home to America's first female industrialist, Rebecca Lukens.

6. The restored Tenant House (circa 1880) was typical of housing provided for workers of that era. Closed to the public.
7. After years of service at Lukens, our 1965 International Travelall Ambulance, 1947 Dodge Fire Engine and a 1965 GMC Fire Engine still look ready to roll!
8. The Steelworkers' Memorial features a World Trade Center Tree made from Lukens' steel. This memorial commemorates steel workers and first responders who gave their lives in service.
9. Our Sonarsphere was manufactured in 1984 to hold 1,245 hydrophones on a nuclear submarine. It was the first Lukens Steel product to return home.
10. The 1911 Porter Steam Locomotive was the workhorse of a turn of the century steel mill.

Our History

The Graystone Museum Society of Coatesville was incorporated in 1984 and began planning a room in the then City Hall, Graystone Mansion, as a museum area. Shortly after its formation, the Society's attention was diverted to Terracina, its first real estate acquisition, the 1850 home of Dr. Charles and Isabella Huston — parents of A. F. Huston — and later the home of Stewart Huston. Working with the City, and with the Huston Estate, the Society agreed to fill the need for a non-profit group to take on the management and general restoration of Terracina in late 1985.

With financial support coming primarily from the Huston Foundation, the Society began the stewardship care and restoration of the house. With the establishment of The Stewart Huston Charitable Trust in 1990, the Society received major grants which allowed for many important restoration projects: roofing, heating, wiring, plumbing, air conditioning, etc., as well as restoration of the interiors to period appearances. The current plans for Terracina are to develop a house museum dedicated to the Huston family of Coatesville and their other related family branches.

The City decided to erect a new municipal office building and police station and moved out of Graystone mansion in 1992. Designed by noted Philadelphia architects Cope & Stewardson and recognized as the most architecturally significant house ever built in Coatesville, Graystone was much too important for the heritage of the city and region to risk its loss. With the support of the then management of Lukens Steel Company, the City agreed to transfer the property to the Graystone Society in 1995. With funds from the Lukens Foundation, the Society was able to do a major clean-up of the buildings and grounds, as well as initiate an architectural and engineering study of the buildings by Dagit-Saylor Architects from Philadelphia. The Society currently uses the mansion for social events, meetings, concerts, and of course, tours.

In 1988 the National Trust for Historic Preservation through their Comprehensive Historic Assistance Program for Historic House Museums compiled a report for Terracina. This report concluded that the Graystone Society needed to expand its mission beyond just preserving Terracina to reflect a broader purpose: the iron and steel industry and its role in the development of the community. After acquiring Graystone Mansion, the Graystone Society commissioned Dagit-Saylor to conduct a feasibility study for the restoration needs of the House.

In 1994, the National Park Service of the United States Department of the Interior bestowed its highest designation on the buildings of the Lukens Historic District — Brandywine Mansion, Terracina, Graystone, and the Lukens Executive Office Building — naming it a National Historic Landmark.

While the Lukens Foundation continued to grant the Graystone Society the funds needed to operate Graystone Mansion, they also began pursuing the concept of a broader vision in a steel museum. After touring other national industrial manufacturing sites with museum components, Lukens recommended Dagit-Saylor to conduct a feasibility study for a steel museum complex, which was completed in 1996. However, shortly after the completion of this study, Lukens, Inc. was sold to Bethlehem Steel Company in 1998. The third and most prominent building in the Historic District came under local control when The Stewart Huston Charitable Trust bought the Lukens Main Office in 2000 from Bethlehem, allowing the Graystone Society to conduct tours of this important structure. At this time, Gateway Park was developed, securing the Historic District's northern end. Finally, in 2006, the Stewart Huston Charitable Trust acquired Brandywine Mansion, the home of Rebecca Lukens and immediately transferred it to the Graystone Society securing ownership of all the structures in the Lukens National Historic District.

In 2001, the steel museum plan of 1996 was revisited and, after much discussion, led by nationally recognized museum planner Harold Skramstad, a more sustainable vision was created for the site in 2003/2004. Further, an interpretive plan was completed by McKelvey Museum Services, bringing an educational focus to the museum. Building upon these efforts, the Society is working with The Stewart Huston Charitable Trust and the Huston Foundation, as well as the City, to create the National Iron and Steel Heritage Museum — a major endeavor which would utilize former mill buildings and a circa 1890's rolling mill adjacent to the house and office properties.

The Graystone Society has been adding depth to its programming for the last number of years including displays of Lukens' products and the equipment used to produce them. In 2002 and 2004 scientific test lab equipment from the G.O. Carlson Company was added to our collection. We began preserving the history of safety at the mill in 2002 by acquiring a 1965 International Travelall ambulance. In 2005 we located and acquired a 1947 Dodge fire truck followed by a 1965 GMC fire truck in 2008. Also in 2008 we built and dedicated a storage facility to house the safety equipment and the G.O. Carlson collection. In 2004 we located a narrow gauge railroad engine of the type previously used at Lukens and developed an outdoor display for it along with ingots and scrap pans indicative of its use in the plant. In 2007 we installed the informational signage for our exterior walking tour. Also in 2007 we acquired and returned to Coatesville a 1980's era Sonar Sphere, a 15' diameter 27 ton steel dome that was manufactured by Lukens Steel for the US Navy and used in the sonar listening systems of nuclear submarines.

In April of 2010 we successfully acquired and returned to Coatesville 500 tons of steel, including ten Tridents, or Trees, used in the bases of the World Trade Center Towers which were melted, rolled and flame cut here at Lukens. Planning is currently underway for the display of the steel as a central part of the National Iron and Steel Heritage Museum.

In 2010, the Graystone Society commemorated 200 years of the iron and steel industry in Coatesville. A highlight of the Society's June 26th event was the unveiling of a brass plaque mounted on a steel ingot donated by ArcelorMittal. The marker was placed near an historic section of the plant that included the original open hearth building where steel was first made at Lukens in 1892. A second event was held on July 2nd — the date of Isaac Pennock's purchase of the land from Moses Coates in 1810 — with a memorial rose-planting ceremony at Brandywine Mansion, the home of Rebecca Lukens and the starting point of the Lukens National Historic District.

This 1911 HK Porter 0-4-0-T Steam Locomotive, previously used at Lukens, became the focal point of a new outdoor display in 2004.

Over forty years ago, The World Center Trees were made from Lukens' Steel. Since their return home, they have been a moving reminder of 9/11 during our annual ceremony, Coatesville Remembers.

Progress in the areas of historical preservation, education and community are marked in 2012 when Harcum College began classes at Graystone, the Klaus Grutzka Industrial Art Collection was acquired and Phoenix Iron & Steel Co. blueprints were added to collections. The Brandywine Mansion Historic Structures Report was completed in 2013.

National Iron and Steel Heritage Museum has enormous potential to provide educational, tourism, and economic stimulation for the urban revitalization efforts of the Coatesville community.

Historical Buildings

Brandywine Mansion (circa 1739)

Brandywine Mansion dates to the mid-1700s. About 1788, Moses Coates added the larger west section. Rebecca Lukens lived in the house until her death in 1854. Much later, Brandywine Mansion became part of Lukens' Company Store. Currently the building is being interpreted to make the renovations as authentic as possible.

In 2013, a property study using dendrochronology methods has found that this property's oldest structures actually date to 1739. Previously, the property was thought to be dated to 1747. This property holds the title as the oldest existing structure in Coatesville.

Tenant House (circa 1880)

Located between Terracina and the 120" Mill, the building is typical of housing built for steel workers. This house was erected around 1880 and was directly next to a barn. It was later occupied by the chauffeur/butler of Stewart and Harriet Huston. The interior of the Tenant House has been completely restored.

An exterior painting project is scheduled as the next renovation for this property.

Terracina (1849)

Built in the Country Gothic style, the exterior displays Gothic Revival features, including latticed piazzas, peaked wall dormers and diamond-paned lancet windows. A two-story, Renaissance Revival bay was added to the south side of the house about 1875.

In 2013, assisted by our summer interns from the Coatesville Youth Initiative, the Eugene DiOrio Inventory Project has begun. The development of a house museum dedicated to the Huston family of Coatesville and their related family branches is in the planning stage.

Open to the public as a circa 1880 house museum.

Graystone Mansion (circa 1889)

A.F. Huston built Graystone in 1889 and lived there until his death in 1930. Sold to the City of Coatesville in 1938, Graystone served as City Hall until 1992. Philadelphia architects Cope & Stewardson designed Graystone employing Collegiate Gothic styling, which the firm initiated and used on several college campuses.

In 2013, six crystal chandeliers, donated by Dr. Dorothy M. DiOrio, were installed at Graystone Mansion in time for this year's Holiday Open House.

Open to the public by appointment and for special events and exhibits.

Carriage House (circa 1889)

The Carriage House is located behind Graystone Mansion, and was built to house the horses and carriages of the family. When the Graystone Mansion was sold to the City of Coatesville, the Carriage House was turned into the city jail and police headquarters.

Not open to the public.

Lukens Executive Office Building (1902-1903)

The directors of Lukens Iron & Steel Company voted in 1900 to construct a new office building. Cope & Stewardson, again were retained, in this case using the Georgian Revival style. The building is owned by the Stewart Huston Charitable Trust and houses the administrative offices of the Graystone Society.

In 2013, the Klaus Grutzka Industrial Art Collection began to be displayed.

Open for tours of the building and exhibits.

Steelworkers' Memorial

ArcelorMittal installed the Steelworkers' Memorial in the summer of 2013. The memorial commemorates those who have perished in the steel mill as well as those who gave their lives in the line of duty on September 11, 2001. The memorial includes one of the "tridents" that was shaped by Lukens Steel before they were constructed as the base of the World Trade Center in New York City. The Museum arranged the return of ten of the original steel tridents home to Coatesville, which became a dream realized in April 2010. This year, the Museum was honored to hold its Coatesville Remembers: Anniversary of the World Trade Center Commemoration ceremony at the new memorial.

Acquisitions & Collections

Klaus Grutzka Industrial Art Collection

This winter, selections from the Klaus Grutzka Industrial Art Collection were on display at the exhibit PENNSYLVANIA; Made of Steel at the Henry Gallery at Penn State Great Valley.

Grutzka (1922 – 2011) was an artist in the Industrial Precisionist School of art known for its sharply defined, austere and simplified forms. His work was uniquely suited for the exhibit as Lukens Steel Co. and other regional industrial centers were often his subjects.

We continue to curate this large body of work and help to fund progress by making select pieces available for adoption and purchase.

Additions to the Collection

The Graystone Society was the beneficiary of a large number of items donated by Dr. Dorothy M. DiOrio, cousin of our own Gene DiOrio, in memory of her brother Joseph F. DiOrio. Joseph, a retired professor of foreign languages from York PA, was an avid collector of music, art, & trains. Six crystal chandeliers were installed at Graystone Mansion. 83 "G" gauge, along with wooden cases for their display, and 45 "HO" gauge train models were added to our collection. Also donated from Joseph's home were china, furniture and household items.
